The Pathways Learning and Development Department is proud to offer "Treatment Planning 101," taught by Christina Watlington - PhD and Amanda Galath - MBA, CHC, CHP

Christina Watlington Ph.D. is a licensed clinical psychologist and is the National Clinical Director for Pathways. Dr. Watlington began her career with Pathways, formerly known as Providence Services Corporation, in 2011 as State Clinical Director for DE. Prior to working at Providence, she spent more than six years coordinating programs for veterans at the Maryland VA Medical Center, as well as supervising post-doctoral fellows and interns. For over a decade, Dr. Watlington has worked with adults and adolescents with chronic PTSD and related disorders. She has extensive experience presenting on topics related to cultural competence, PTSD, working with at-risk youth, cognitive behavioral therapy, Trauma Informed Care and mindfulness. She has her own private practice in Wilmington, Delaware, offering clinical services to adults and adolescents. Dr. Watlington earned her doctorate in Clinical Psychology at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County in 2005. She enjoys reading, traveling, spending time with her family, and teaching the treatment planning Teleclass!

Amanda Galath, Vice President of Quality Improvement: Amanda Galath is responsible for the oversight of compliance and quality improvement systems across Pathways Human Services. Ms. Galath obtained both her Bachelor's degree in psychology and her Masters of Business Administration from California State University Long Beach, where she graduated Phi Beta Kappa and remains an active alumni member. She has worked with Pathways, formerly known as Providence Service Corporation, for over 18 years where she has developed and implemented quality improvement systems for multiple programs and divisions. She brings extensive knowledge to the Human Services division in areas such as Quality Improvement, compliance, programmatic policies and procedures, data and outcomes, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), Risk Management and Medicaid certification and provider standards. Ms. Galath is an active member of the Pathways National Compliance, National Quality Assurance, HIPAA and Outcomes Committees, and she is the back-up Chief Privacy Officer for the Human Services Division. It is Ms. Galath's aim to constantly improve the services we provide to our clients while reducing risk to the company.

Purpose of this Course:

With all of the benefits of good treatment planning, we continue to dread treatment plans. They can be viewed as meaningless, time-consuming, or a document that you just file away and ignore. Yet the treatment plan can create a beautiful experience for the clinician and the consumer alike, once we begin to change our perspective! This course is designed to arm clinicians with the skills to write good treatment plans that will put a smile on the auditors' faces, while creating opportunities for the consumers to have a better quality of life. We will cover some important material as it relates to treatment planning. We will talk about collaborative treatment plans, SMART goals and how the Golden Thread helps us to weave all pieces of documentation together. We will work with a fun treatment plan or plans to practice our skill set. AND we will get to act as "the auditor" as we review plans together.

Learning Objectives: After completing the course, participants will be able to:

1. Define the 4 functions of collaborative treatment planning
2. Recognize SMART objectives
3. Give examples of good problem statements, goals, objectives, and interventions.
4. Identify all parts of the golden thread
