

Know More, Get Better

with help from Relias Gaming Elements

An Engaged and Motivated Staff.

How do you motivate your staff to complete their training on time—especially when you’re trying to keep up with compliance?

Relias Gaming Elements help you drive staff engagement using incentivized learning—points, seals, leaderboards—so that your staff complete their training because they want to, not because they have to.

More Than Just Fun and Games.

The “gaming” in gaming elements can be misleading when used in the workplace, but don’t be fooled. It’s a valuable tool that can improve performance and compliance. In fact, staff only earn coins when completing a course—and they earn more if courses are completed early, if they complete more than one course, or if they receive a high exam score.

Key Benefits

Incentivize Learning

Boost Staff Motivation

Improve Performance

Increase Completion Rates

Maintain Compliance

Foster Friendly Competition

KEY APPLICATIONS

Staff Motivation: Gaming Elements introduce features like leaderboards and points to encourage friendly competition and empower staff to become active participants in their learning.

Compliance Improvement: When staff are motivated to learn, they are more inclined to complete training on time—including required training—to help improve compliance.

Performance Improvement: Staff earn more rewards for early course completions and high exam scores. This incentivizes learning and helps to improve performance.

Engagement: Gaming elements increase staff engagement which results in improved knowledge retention, performance and patient and client outcomes.

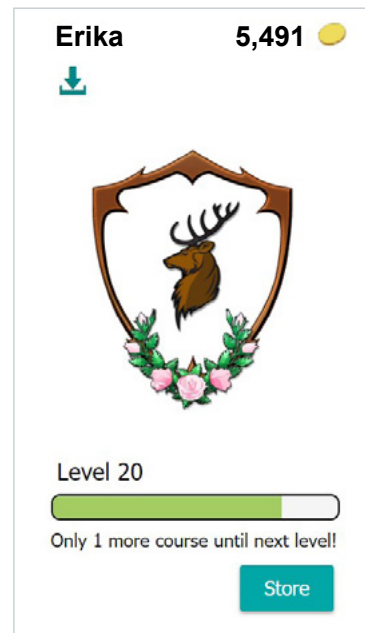

Key Features

Coins: Staff earn coins by completing modules in the Relias LMS to purchase décor for their crests, to gift seals to coworkers, or to upgrade their existing seals or crest.

Leaderboards: Enforce long-term motivation and friendly competition while making it easy to track results for each individual, team or department.

Levels: Staff ‘level up’ based on the number of modules they have taken. As levels increase, the number of modules required to pass the level also increases.

Seals: Staff earn seals—images used to decorate the interior of their personal crest—after each course or event completion. Seals are related to levels, and become more intricate as the levels increase.

Relias Gaming Elements boost engagement, improve completion rates and put your organization on the fast track to better compliance. If you'd like more information on Gaming Elements or how they can add value to your organization, reach out to one of our solutions experts.
